Message from the

World President

This is my third Annual Report as World President since my inauguration in May 2018. I just re-read my 2020 message and we are still living in unprecedented times, there was lots of political and social unrest but no mention of a global pandemic, testimony that a lot can happen in a year.

I've been reflecting on things that have come out from the global pandemic, this is not meant to minimise the harsh reality of an incredibly difficult year, many have lost loved ones, many are struggling, many feel sad, scared, frustrated and broken but while 2020 was especially hard, there are silver linings. Out of coronavirus comes creativity, out of quarantine comes bonus time with family, out of activism comes changes for the better and now there is hope.

"Hope" is the thing with feathers - That perches in the soul - And sings the tune without the words - And never stops - at all. Emily Dickinson

- The Covid-19 vaccination programme will be the biggest in history
- The earth has had a chance to heal, cleaner air from fewer cars, planes and energy consumption
- Appreciation of our frontline and essential workers
- Racial grievances have been highlighted by the Black Lives Matter protests
- Love for thy neighbour, we are more connected to family and friends and community spirit is alive
- A chance to restructure what really matters to us, an opportunity to stop, reflect and to make lifestyle changes

COVID-19 may have closed the TI Head Office but it has brought us closer to technology. Whether connecting with our Global Sections, Special Interest Groups, our co-workers or being the first port of call to advise on requests and queries relevant to our industry. We are currently using technology to develop learning webinars for members which we will continue to review and develop.

I'm sure that it will be no surprise that The Textile Institute continues to support competitions, bursaries, students and graduates including:

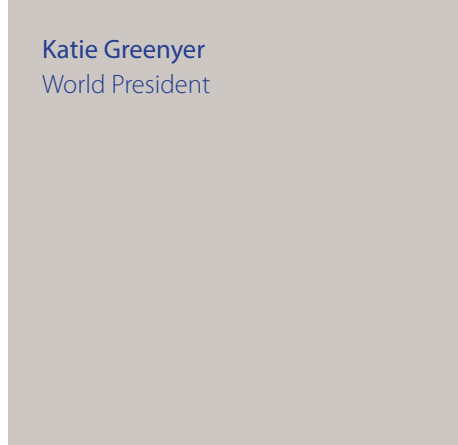

- The Textile Institute Young Persons Award
- New Designers online
- Sri Lanka Section Awards
- The Bradford Textile Society Design Competition
- Fashanne Online Awards
- London and SE England sponsors of Hand and Lock Awards
- We are also proud partners with Artstthread a global graduate site

We will continue to support and partner with key events around the world making sure our members and industry have access to crucial relevant information.

2021 will also see the launch our website which is indeed timely. It will enable us to interact better with members, involve new audiences, answer external requests, promote and attract our industry so that we can have increased interaction. We have found and are finding innovative ways to 'Keep Calm & Carry On' to enable our future growth.

Chair of Council

Chair of Council

It is a privilege to begin my first message as Chairman of The Textile Institute by thanking my predecessor, Mrs Helen Rowe CompTI CText FTI, for all she did for the TI during the five years she spent as Chairman (over a period of seven years). Helen's devotion to the TI and its members is outstanding and I am delighted that she is still involved in the work of many Committees, bringing her expertise gained over a lifetime spent in the industry. It is also reassuring for me to know that I can call on Helen for advice as I begin my term as Chairman.

The challenges of the pandemic are vast for all of us, wherever we live in the world. The teaching of our students has been disrupted, with many having to try to learn remotely; factories have been closed because of lockdowns or the cancellation of orders as consumer spending shrinks; many of us are working from home, dependent on, but grateful for, virtual meeting facilities, yet missing the companionship and interaction with colleagues. The arrival of vaccines gives us all a feeling of optimism that we are moving towards the light at the end of the tunnel, although we are conscious that economic recovery will be a lengthy process after restrictions ease.

The work of The Textile Institute can help contribute to this process of recovery, with Professional Qualifications being more important than ever, with Publications being invaluable to those studying in our great industry and with Events restarting in a physical sense, but also exploiting the virtual possibilities with which we have become so familiar.

This is the time for all of us to support the TI wherever we are based. I have been heartened to hear of the activities of our local Sections, which have worked so hard to keep in touch with members and to support and encourage them. Similarly, I have been reassured by the attendance at The Textile Institute's Council meetings, even if it means scrolling through different screens to ensure that everyone has the opportunity to give their views on our activities.

I should like to thank all of you for your contribution to the work of The Textile Institute over the last year. You are all volunteers, but it is so good to see how willingly you volunteer your expertise, your experience and your time.

The Annual General Meeting of The Textile Institute in 2021 will revert to its usual dateline in May (in 2020 it moved to June because of the pandemic). It will again be a virtual meeting, but the Council has decided that after the usual business of reports and approving accounts, we shall have a Guest Speaker to address us. Whilst we shall not be able to "catch up" with each other in person, I hope that a virtual event will be some substitute and that the contribution of our Speaker will make this as far as possible a "real" event for us all.

I should also like to pay tribute to the TIHQ staff who have coped so well with working from home and who have maintained such a level of service to members and thus to the industry as a whole. Our two senior staff, Mrs Stephanie Dick and Miss Rebecca Unsworth both marked twenty years of employment with the TI in the latter months of 2020 and we congratulate and thank them.

Finally, I hope you will enjoy reading the Annual Report and that you will continue to be involved in the TI over the next year, which whilst it will bring new challenges, will we hope be a better year for us all.

Honorary Treasurer's Report

This is my first Honorary Treasurers report, and I must first and foremost thank the team at The Textile Institute for their efforts over this exceedingly difficult year. I also wish to thank Mr Geoff Kershaw CText ATI, my predecessor for his diligence in looking after the finances over many years. The COVID-19 pandemic has resulted in a significant change to working practices throughout the year with all staff working from home since the first UK lockdown in March 2020.

As a result of COVID-19 the impact on the Institute was to show a downturn in expected income but due to the diligence of the TI staff a significant reduction in expenditure has resulted in a small surplus over the year

Membership and Publications have held up well despite the impact of the pandemic. It should be noted that the income from Publications has remained at about 50% of the overall income however we have seen a decrease in this area and this will impact on the overall figures.

The Professional Qualifications department has had a reasonably successful year, but this has been impacted by some Universities deferring accreditation due to the financial restrictions.

The Parliamentary Lunch has always been a highlight of the TI events calendar. Unfortunately, in 2020 the Parliamentary Lunch had to be cancelled. This had a negative impact on income but due to no costs incurred expenditure was also down. The deposit for the event has been transferred to 2021 when it is hoped the event will take place albeit perhaps in a reduced form.

Another source of Events income is the short course portfolio. The Institute had planned to run two Introduction to Textiles courses, one in March and the other in October. The March event began with many delegates but due to the announcement of the UK lockdown this had to be postponed after the first day. This resulted in some expenditure which could not be recovered due to the booking of the hotel facilities for the anticipated three days. The October course was a virtual event conducted on Zoom with the presenters working from home.

As well as sponsorship for events the Institute continues to receive a generous donation from The Lord Barnby Foundation.

The Institute has benefitted this year from additional income from grants from Manchester City Council (GBP£10,000) and approximately GBP£6,000 from legacies and donations.

Overall expenditure has been significantly reduced due to staff working from home, restrictions on international travel and other impacts of the pandemic.

Borrowing arrangements with our Bank remain secure with a manageable overdraft. The overdraft is secured against the Investment Portfolio. The Institute did not need to borrow any further money from either internal or external funds during the year.

For 2021, I believe we will be financially challenged due to the unknown impact of the COVID-19 pandemic but with the focus on increasing Membership, the launch of the new website and the continued excellent income from the Publications Department income should remain reasonable, constant and on budget.

Trevor Rowe CText FTI
Honorary Treasurer

Publications

Committee

The Publications Committee continues to oversee and develop the Institute's portfolio of publications which include, journals, monographs, periodicals and books in print and in electronic media. A range of new titles have been published with TI publishing partners, including Taylor & Francis, Elsevier, CRC and Greenleaf.

The Journal of The Textile Institute

Published by Taylor & Francis on behalf of the Institute and edited by Prof X Wang CText FTI and Dr X Chen CText FTI, the Journal of The Textile Institute (JTI) continues to lead the way in research and innovation. The journal continues to be ranked in the top 10 of materials science journals in the world.

Textile Progress

Published by Taylor & Francis on behalf of The Textile Institute and edited by Prof Richard Murray CompTI CText FTI, this critical review journal first published in 1969, provides a comprehensive examination of research development in textiles, clothing and footwear.

International Journal of Fashion Design, Technology and Education

Published by Taylor & Francis and co-badged by The Textile Institute, this journal aims to provide a high quality peer-reviewed forum for research in fashion design, pattern cutting, apparel production, manufacturing technology and fashion education.

TT&D

Textile Terms and Definitions (TT&D) is the industry essential authoritative collection of textile terms and definitions. Available now on-line covering all aspects of the textile, clothing and footwear. The digital medium makes the publication portable and allows the panel of experts to revise and update terms continually. Subscription packages are available at www.ttandd.org In 2021 TT&D will be integrated into the new website and become part of the membership package.

Textiles

textiles is the Institute's magazine, edited by Vanessa Wakefield. The magazine covers all aspects of the textile industry and the diverse interests of The Textile Institute's Membership.

Writing for a Textile Institute Publication

The Textile Institute's portfolio of publications includes books, journals and periodicals of worldwide interest. The Institute has chosen highly-renowned, globally-recognised publishers to work with to communicate essential information about high-quality research in all areas of textiles including science, engineering, economics, management, marketing and design. The TI invites authors and reviewers to work with the Institute in support of these publication initiatives and to take advantage of the opportunities they offer for worldwide recognition.

Professional Qualifications

Individual Qualifications

Since 1926 The Textile Institute has conferred professional qualifications to Individual Members. Members can apply by filling in an application form which is assessed by a committee of peers.

Licentiatehip is awarded to those with a good level of knowledge in one specialist area and a general awareness of textiles and related industries. The holder of this qualification can use the post nominal letters LTI.

Associateship is a chartered professional qualification awarded to those with specialism in one area of textiles and a broad general knowledge of textiles and related industries. The holder of this qualification can use the post nominal letters CText ATI.

Fellowship is the highest level professional qualification awarded by The Textile Institute. Conferred to those who fulfil the requirements of CText ATI but have also made a major personal creative contribution. The holder of this qualification can use the post nominal letters CText FTI.

Accreditation

The TI accredits a wide range of courses worldwide to both Licentiatehip and Associateship level. Students graduating from these courses are able to apply after a shorter period of postgraduate work experience.
